PRESENTATION

The International QGIS User and Developer Conference wants to be the referential conference and a meeting point for the family of users and developers orbiting around the QGIS project, in order to gather experiences and sharing knowledge about QGIS.

A QGIS Developer Meeting is a volunteer-driven event where contributors to the QGIS project from around the world get together in a common space - usually a university campus.

The event is normally several days in duration and we hold two such events each year. During these events, contributors to the QGIS project take the opportunity to plan their work, hold face-to-face discussions and present new improvements to the QGIS project that they have been working on.

ORGANIZATION

Everybody attending the event donates their time to the project for the days of the event. As a project that is built primarily through online collaboration, these meetings provide a crucial ingredient to the future development of the QGIS project.

The event is planned largely as an ‘unconference’ with minimal structured programme planning. We do this to allow attendees the freedom to meet dynamically with those they encounter at the event.

Those sessions that are planned are advertised on the event web page and we try to enable remote participation through video conferencing software. Although our hosts are not funded and donate the working space to us, we show our appreciation by making one of our software release’s splash screens in honour of that host, which is a great way to gain exposure of your institution and country to the hundreds of thousands of users that make use of QGIS.

VALUE YOUR BRAND

This conference develops a non-profit project organized by volunteers, so we look for sponsors to help us make the event possible.

Being a sponsor of the event, will allow your brand to obtain great visibility. In the previous editions we had more than 200 participants coming from all corners of the world.

Your brand will appear in all the announcements of the event (website, program and all promotion supports), visibility of the logo in the display of welcome, special mention in social networks, mailing lists and newsletters and will be mentioned several times during the event. An ideal opportunity to promote your company to potential customers.

Conference expenses are basically for material, premises, resources necessary for the event, food, coffee break, soft drinks, snacks and gifts.

You could help us to afford them with a contribution like:

Gold Sponsor ..... 1.000 €

Silver Sponsor ..... 500 €

If you want to contribute with another amount, please get in touch with us.

You can also give us some merchandising details of your brand. You will make the participants happy and at the same time it is advertising for you.
